Страна: Uzbekistan

Organizing any complexity of tours to Issyk-Kul, Son-Kul, around Kyrgyzstan and Central Asia. We guarantee you high quality of service and individual approach!:

During this tour you will visit 3 Central Asian countries: Uzbekistan, Kyrgyzstan and Kazakhstan.

And cities: Tashkent, Bukhara, Samarkand, Fergana, Osh, Toktogul, Bishkek, Chon-Kemin, Issyk-Kul, Karakol and Almaty.

Day 1: Arrival to Tashkent by international flight (Uzbekistan Airways)

Arrival to Tashkent at midnight. Meet a local guide and transfer to hotel (early check-in included). Rest and breakfast.

Tashkent – the Capital of Uzbekistan!

Due to the central location in the region, it was Sogdian and Turkic influences in its early city history, before the Arabs came in the 8th century. After destruction by Genghis Khan in 1219, the city was rebuilt and profited from the Silk Road. The city was conquered by the Russian Army in 1865, and in Soviet times witnessed major growth and demographic changes.

Nowadays, Tashkent is the largest metropolis in the region, the nation's capital and home to some excellent museums, operas and fine dining.

Tashkent is one of the main transport hubs for the whole of Central Asia with flight connections linking Uzbekistan to the world.

There are variety of bazaars, madrassas, craft centers, museums, parks, squares and theaters to explore. Tashkent metro is a unique system with art-gallery-like stations.

Sightseeing tour includes:

- Alisher Navoi Opera and Ballet Theater – the theater has special significance for Japanese nationals because it was built by the Japanese prisoners during the Second World War. A plate acknowledging their contributions is part of the building.

- Monument of Courage – built to acknowledge the courage of the people at the time of the Tashkent earthquake on 26th April 1966. The whole city was turned into rubble, and modern Tashkent was built. . Amir Temur Monument – is in the center of Tashkent city. Amir Temur, in armor, is sitting on his horse, holding the reins of his horse with his left hand and greeting the people with his right hand.

- Mustaqilik (Independence Square) – the political center of the Republic of Uzbekistan. There are located Government buildings and the Senate Independence Monument was established in 1991 as a symbol of sovereignty of the country. It shows a golden globe and the outlines of Uzbekistan.

Dinner at a local restaurant.

Day 2: Tashkent – Bukhara by domestic flight

After breakfast, transfer to airport for morning flight to Bukhara.

Bukhara – The Sacred City!

One of the most sacred places for Muslims, the admired and charming city of Bukhara was also one of the key stop points along the Silk Route.

In the Middle Ages, when the region was at the top, scientists traveled from all over the Islamic world in order to receive knowledge here, including Ibn Sina and Firdausi. The whole tour in Bukhara can be completed in one day, however, this is one of the places where little seems to have changed from the Medieval Era, and taking things a little slower lets you soak up the thrillingly authentic atmosphere.

The historical center of Bukhara has been listed by UNESCO as one of the World Heritage Sites.

Full day sightseeing of Bukhara:

- Ark citadel / Registan Square.

From the most ancient times the Ark was the fortified residence of the rulers of Bukhara. Everything could be found there; palaces, temples, barracks, offices, the mint, warehouses, workshops, stables, an arsenal, and even a prison.

- Ismoil Somoni Mausoleum – was built in the 9th (10th) century (between 892 and 943) as the resting-place of Ismail Samani –who was powerful and influential Amir of the Samanid dynasty. Samanid was one of the Persian dynasties that dominated in the Central Asia, which held the city in the 9th and 10th centuries.

The architects used an ancient tradition of baked brick construction, but to a much higher standard than had been seen before. The construction and artistic details of the brickwork are still enormously impressive and display traditional features dating back to pre-Islamic culture.

- Poikalon Complex – consists of three structures, Minorai Kalon, Masjidi Kalon & Miri Arab Madrassa. Minaret was built by the Karakhanid ruler Arslan Khan in 1127. The mosque was built circa 1514 & madrasah was completed in 1536.

-Lyab-i Hauz –is considered a center of the Old City. It means “ensemble near the pool”. The main element of this ensemble is the pool. The ensemble Lyab-i Hauz has three monumental structures. These are: Kukeldash madrasah (16th century) built by Abdullah II was, at the time, the biggest Islamic School in Central Asia. Nadir Devanbegi Madrassah (16th century) was intended to be a Caravan Saray, but according to the precept of the ruler Imam Kulimkhan, was reconstructed into a Madrasah. Nadir Devanbegi Khanaka (winter mosque) was built at the same time with the Lyab-i Hauz (16th century).

- Maggoki Attar Mosque is the oldest surviving mosque in Central Asia, dating back to the 9th cent., and reconstructed in the 16th cent. It was built in place of the temple of fire worshippers.

Dinner and folklore show at Madrasah .

Day 3: Bukhara – Samarkand (280 km)

After a breakfast, drive to Samarkand via Giduvan. Along the way visit ceramic pottery.

Upon arrival, accommodation at a hotel.

In 329 BC, Alexander the Great exclaimed: ‘Everything I've heard about Samarkand is true, except that it's more beautiful than I've ever imagined!’

This city is the jewel in the crown of the Silk Road.

It's centerpiece, the Registan, has been carefully restored. This is Samarkand's medieval commercial heart and is dominated by three madrasah facing each other across a square.

It is best to spend a whole day to explore these buildings with its golden interiors, courtyards and colorful bazaars. See the extraordinary Ulugbeg observatory, created by Tamerlane's grandson, and visit Gur Emir – Tamerlane's mausoleum. Have a tea on a terrace overlooking the Bibi Khanum mosque, built for Tamerlane by his wife as a surprise gift.

In 2001, UNESCO added the city to its World Heritage List as Samarkand – Crossroads of Cultures.

Sightseeing tour includes:

- Gur Emir Mausoleum. Today, everyone can visit his tomb in the beautifully reconstructed Gur-Emir Mausoleum (1404-1405, 15-17 centuries) and reflect on his life while looking at the largest piece of jade (greenstone) in the world.

Dinner at a local restaurant.

Day 4: Samarkand

After breakfast, full sightseeing day:

- Ulugbek's Observatory – observatory of Timur's grandson.

Ulugbek was an astronomer, scientist and architect. His scientific and astronomical discoveries greatly advanced knowledge in these fields. There is only thing that was stored from observatory; is a part of huge sextant – major astronomic instrument.

- Tomb of Prophet Daniel. Amongst other curiosities in Samarkand is the tomb of the Hebrew Prophet Daniel. It contains a burial chamber which is around 18 meters in height . After the conquest of Syria, the grave was transported to Samarkand under the orders of Amir Temur.

- Afrosiab. The part of ancient and medieval Samarkand in the Northern part of modern city . This place always ensured favorable conditions for settlements. As a proof, you can freely walk through the ancient ruins. A museum is in the center of the remains.

- Shah-i-Zinda Ensemble (9-14, 19 centuries). This architectural complex consists of 44 tombs in more than 20 mausoleums. The greatest significance of Shah-i-Zinda is that he was the First cousin of Prophet Muhammad and and most of all was like a Prophet

- Registan Ensemble – Registan became the city square when the life in Afrosiab stopped. Since that time Registan was reconstructed several times. Today it is surrounded by the three madrasah Ulugbek, Sherdor and Tillokori.

Dinner at national family with Pilav.

Day 5: Samarkand – Tashkent (320 km)

After breakfast, continue sightseeing tour of Samarkand:
